THE NUTCRACKER

9 – 23 DECEMBER, QPAC

Choreographed by Ben Stevenson OBE
With Queensland Symphony Orchestra
A classical ballet in two acts, based on ETA Hoffmann’s tale of The Nutcracker and the Mouse King (1816).

First produced on 18 December, 1892 by the Imperial Ballet at the Mariinsky Theatre, St Petersburg, Russia. Choreographed by Ben Stevenson in 1976, this production of The Nutcracker was first performed in 1987 by Houston Ballet in the Wortham Theater, Houston, Texas. Queensland Ballet’s first performance of this production was on 5 December, 2013.

The performance lasts approximately two hours with one 20-minute interval.

*The performance on Monday 19 December will use recorded music.
Though the weather outside is hot and brimming with sunshine, as the curtain rises, we step into a magical land filled with snow. It’s beginning to look a lot like Christmas for Queensland Ballet! It brings us much joy to share with you our own Christmas tradition, The Nutcracker: a timeless tale of wonder.

Ben Stevenson’s interpretation of this classic, is masterful in its storytelling and enchanting in its choreography. It is easy to understand why this ballet has quickly become a much-anticipated tradition for young and old alike. For me, it is The Nutcracker’s joy, warmth and ability to transcend generations, which makes this work truly special.

None of this would be possible without the exquisite costume designs of Desmond Heeley, interpreted by our own Resident Costume Designer, Noeline Hill, which transport the audience into this magical world. Thomas Boyd’s wondrous set designs complete this transformation, sparkling under the charming lighting designs of David Walters.

Thank you to you all for bringing Ben Stevenson’s extraordinary vision to life.

Tchaikovsky’s magnificent score is presented by the Queensland Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of our Music Director and Principal Conductor, Nigel Gaynor. I must thank this superb orchestra for once again joining us for this and many seasons this year — our collaboration is one of utmost importance in realising the aspirations for our Company.

To Amanda Talbot and Valmai Pidgeon, whose incredible generosity and support has enabled us to share the beautiful gift of The Nutcracker with you all each year, I offer my sincerest thanks. We are also very appreciative of the ongoing support offered to us by the State and Federal Governments, and Major Partners Virgin Australia, BMW and JC Decaux, who continue to help strengthen and extend the achievements our Company.

Special mention must also go to our Lead Partner, Suncorp, whose Wish Upon a Ballet Star competition continues to make young ballet lovers’ dreams come true each year. Congratulations to this year’s finalists and competition winner, Leo Hamilton, who will join us on stage for one very special performance.

Christmas is time of reflection for many, to look back upon the year passed and to remember and enjoy our accomplishments. I am immensely proud of our Company’s successes both on and off the stage in 2016. These successes are too plentiful to list; however, I must make mention of yet another box-office record broken with our hugely successful season of Derek Deane’s Strictly Gershwin. Queensland Ballet has certainly shone in 2016!

As we look forward to 2017 with great anticipation, on behalf of the Board, staff and dancers of Queensland Ballet, I wish you and your families a very safe and happy festive season. Happy Holidays!

ACT 1

Herr Stahlbaum and his wife are giving a Christmas party. Clara and Fritz, their children, greet the guests. All the children are given toys by their parents. Suddenly, the mysterious Dr Drosselmeyer arrives and entertains the children with his magical tricks and wind-up dolls.

Dr Drosselmeyer brings a special gift for Clara, a wooden Nutcracker. In a jealous fit, Fritz breaks it, but Dr Drosselmeyer quickly repairs the Nutcracker. The party ends, the guests leave and the Stahlbaums retire for the night.

Clara awakens, the clock strikes midnight and the room fills with giant mice which attack her! Life-sized toy soldiers, led by the valiant Nutcracker, come to her rescue. The King Rat attacks the Nutcracker, but Clara hits him with her shoe and the Nutcracker wins the battle.

After the battle, the Nutcracker turns into a handsome prince. The Nutcracker Prince transforms the Stahlbaum’s house into the Land of Snow. The Snow Queen and the Snow Prince dance with the Snowflakes. Clara and the Nutcracker Prince depart for the Kingdom of Sweets in a beautiful, enchanted sleigh.

INTERVAL

ACT 2

Clara and the Nutcracker Prince continue their journey across the Lemonade Sea. When they arrive in the Kingdom of Sweets, the cooks are preparing delectable treats for their enjoyment and they are greeted by the Sugar Plum Fairy. In Clara’s honour, the Sugar Plum Fairy arranges for the inhabitants of her kingdom to entertain them while they eat by performing a Spanish dance, an Arabian dance and a Chinese dance. Clara is also entertained by the Dance of the Mirlitons, a dance with Mother Ginger and her children, a Russian dance and the Waltz of the Flowers. Then, the Sugar Plum Fairy and the Nutcracker Prince dance a grand pas de deux.

As the celebration draws to a close, Clara drifts off to sleep. She awakens from her dreams as the Nutcracker salutes his Princess Clara.

Season’s Greetings and welcome to The Nutcracker.

In the United States, The Nutcracker has become a holiday tradition in many families and the audience looks forward to it each and every year. What I particularly like about every production of The Nutcracker is that little children are performing on stage for the first time, while a lot of children are coming to the ballet for the first time. This makes it such a wonderful introduction to the ballet for children of all ages.

This production, beautifully designed by Thomas Boyd, is full of magic, excitement and elegance. The party scene in Act 1 is set in a farmhouse instead of the typical palace, and I have tried to insert humour to keep it less formal. The house is then magically transformed into the sparkling Land of Snow. Act 2 brings you to the enchanting Kingdom of Sweets, with the Sugar Plum Fairy and dances from around the globe.

I hope you make this Nutcracker a Christmas tradition in your family!

In 2011, Nigel was engaged by Royal New Zealand Ballet for its season of The Sleeping Beauty and appointed Music Director of the company in January 2013. Nigel Gaynor has enjoyed an international career as a specialist conductor for ballet and is also a highly accomplished ballet accompanist. He is originally from Australia and worked with The Australian Ballet for 15 years.

Some of his career highlights include working with Rudolf Nureyev, Sir Robert Helpmann and Jiří Kylián; conducting The Australian Ballet’s Red Earth on live television; and collaborating on new ballets with choreographers Wayne McGregor and Christopher Wheeldon.

Tchaikovsky composed The Nutcracker in 1893; an extraordinary achievement towards the end of his life. During this year, he had spent much of his time touring the United States, where he conducted many of his orchestral works.

The instrumentation of this ballet is remarkable. In particular, Tchaikovsky engaged a large woodwind section, which brings many orchestral colours to the score. Among the woodwinds, he included piccolo, cor anglais and bass clarinet.

Tchaikovsky innovatively included the ethereal-sounding celeste to the orchestra, which he had found in Paris some years earlier. He first used this instrument in the previous year for his symphonic poem The Voyeudo. This instrument now famously characterises the Sugar Plum Fairy solo in Act 2.

Another treasured element of the score is the children’s chorus, during the climactic Snow Flakes dance at the conclusion of Act 1. We welcome back the choirs of St Peters Lutheran College and Voices of Birralee as they bring their beautiful gift to our performances.

The magic of Tchaikovsky’s Nutcracker reflects much of his genius as a composer. Harmonically, he takes us on a journey, much the way the story on stage does. The ballet begins at the Stahlbaums’ home and moves to the Land of Snow, the Kingdom of Sweets, and then ends back in the family home. In terms of the harmony, we begin in the key of B flat, eventually making our way to E major at the conclusion of Act 1 - the farthest key away from B flat. Clara’s journey from home to the far away Kingdom of Sweets is just as distant! The Nutcracker is one of Tchaikovsky’s most loved works, filled with many of the most famous tunes in all ballet repertoire. Its joyful yet dramatic tale is one that has become synonymous with Christmas yuletide. For me, my earliest memory of the beauty of classical music is the theme from the Arabian dance. It is still a personal favourite of mine.

I have arranged Tchaikovsky’s score to specifically suit our production.
